Whisky makers call for end on export tariffs

SCOTCH whisky industry representatives have teamed up with their US counterparts to call for an end to tariffs on exports.

The Scotch Whisky Association and Distilled Spirits Council of the United States want the UK and US governments to remove the 25% export tariffs on their whiskies.

SWA chief executive Karen Betts warned £100million of Scotch whisky exports could be lost over the year unless the restrictions are lifted.

A 25% tariff was imposed on imports of US whiskey into the EU in June 2018, in response to US tariffs on European steel and aluminium.

Last October, the US imposed a 25% duty on Scotch whisky and liqueurs as part of a long-running dispute over aircraft subsidies.

Banks told to explain overdrafts

BANKS are being asked by the regulator to explain their overdraft pricing decisions, after a string of providers pegged their new rates at around 40%.

Overdraft providers are introducing the new rates as they look to comply with new rules being introduced by the Financial Conduct Authority April 6, which will prevent providers from charging higher prices for unarranged overdrafts than for arranged ones.

The changes aim to make overdraft pricing simpler and fairer, reducing the burden on some people who pay high charges.

Firms will need to charge a simple annual interest rate - without additional fees and charges for using an overdraft.

The changes will mean the new rates for some customers will be around double what they have been previously.

CLIMATE TRIAL COLLAPSE OVER MISSING COP

PROTEST: Extinction Rebellion last year

A TRIAL of Extinction Rebellion protesters has collapsed after an "abject failure" by the Crown Prosecution Service.

Five climate activists were accused of gluing themselves to the concourse between London City Airport and its DLR station in October, and were due to go on trial at City of London Magistrates' Court yesterday.

But the charges were dismissed after a police officer who was due to be a prosecution witness was not given enough notice about the date of the trial and had booked time off.

Deputy District Judge Vincent McDade said: "There has been an abject failure by the CPS to ensure this case has been properly managed."

He said the absent police officer was required from the outset, adding: "Had the CPS acted efficiently and warned the witness as soon as possible after the case management hearing on November 7 this would proceed today, with the witness giving evidence."

The judge said the officer - who made the arrests - was a "vital witness to establish the lawfulness or otherwise of the arrests", adding he had "no option but to dismiss all matters against all defendants".

The five defendants who faced a charge of aggravated trespass were Claudia Fisher, 57, of Brighton, Phoebe Valentine, 23, from Brighton, David Lambert, 60, of Gloucs, Senan Clifford, 59, of Gloucs, and John Burrage, 42, from West Wales.

Sturgeon keeps EU flag flying

SCOTTISH First Minister Nicola Sturgeon has ordered officials to keep the European Union flag flying over her HQ after the UK leaves on Friday.

Ms Sturgeon (above), leader of the SNP, sparked Conservative fury with the decision as she was accused of "cynical political opportunism".

Ms Sturgeon is vehemently against Scotland being taken out of the EU and has repeatedly argued it is happening "against our will".

The UK government has set out its own plans to mark the moment Britain splits from Brussels with plans for a Downing Street countdown clock and light show on Friday evening.

A commemorative Brexit 50p coin has also been minted with three million due to enter circulation at the end of the week and more to come later in the year.

Prime Minister Boris Johnson is expected to address the nation on Friday night in a bid to unite the country and help heal the divisions of the last three years.

Migrant salary drops to £25k

The government should drop the salary threshold for immigrants by more than £4,000, a committee has advised.

Skilled migrants from outside the EU currently need to have a job offer with a minimum salary of £30,000.

But the Migration Advisory Committee yesterday said it should fall to £25,600 for all workers, to help recruit teachers and skilled NHS staff.

The committee's chair also called PM Boris Johnson's proposal for a new points-based immigration system a "soundbite".

Mr Johnson said he wanted a scheme, based on Australia's system, during his summer campaign to lead the Conservative Party.

TIME'S UP FOR JUST A MINUTE HOST

BROADCASTING LEGEND: Parsons

COMEDY legend Nicholas Parsons - famous for also presenting Sale of the Century - has died at the age of 96.

Parsons had also hosted Radio 4's Just a Minute panel show since it began in 1967.

Just a Minute is a popular game where guests are asked to speak for a full minute on a single subject without any "hesitation, deviation or repetition".

Parsons also appeared on the Benny Hill Show for several years after joining in 1969.

His other TV appearances include The Comic Strip Presents and Have I Got News For You.

His agent Jean Diamond said: "Nicholas passed away in the early hours of January 28."

"He was with his beloved family who will miss him enormously and who wish to thank the wonderful staff at Stoke Mandeville Hospital."

BBC director-general Tony Hall added: "Very few people have done so much to entertain audiences over the decades, and no-one deserves to be called a broadcasting legend more than Nicholas Parsons."

"His charm, inventive intellect and ability to create laughs were unsurpassed. Our thoughts are with his family and all who knew him."

Chat show host Graham Norton led the tributes on social media, writing: "The sound of the final whistle. Nicholas Parsons was truly the kindest and most generous person I've ever worked with."

"His continued delight at being a part of showbusiness should be an inspiration to us all! Huge love to his wife Annie and his whole family."

And Stephen Fry tweeted: "He ruled Just a Minute for a Lifetime. A stunning achievement: never scripted, always immaculate. From comedian's sidekick to great institution, via Sale of the Century and more. Unrivalled continuity, professionalism and commitment. Farewell x."

UK KEEPS HUAWEI ON ITS 5G

THE UK has decided to let Huawei continue to be used in its 5G networks but with restrictions, despite pressure from the US to block the company.

The Chinese firm will be banned from supplying kit to "sensitive parts" of the network, known as the core.

In addition, it will only be allowed to account for 35% of the kit in a network's periphery, which includes radio masts.

And it will be excluded from areas near military bases and nuclear sites.

"Huawei is reassured by the UK government's confirmation that we can continue working with our customers to keep the 5G rollout on track," its UK chief Victor Zhang said in a statement.

"It gives the UK access to world-leading technology and ensures a competitive market."

Boris Johnson had faced pressure from US President Donald Trump and some Tory MPs to block the Chinese tech giant on the grounds of national security.

A Trump administration official has said the US "is disappointed" with the decision.

Beijing warned the UK there could be "substantial" repercussions to other trade and investment plans had the company been banned outright.

Foot fetish fan targets fit Holly

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

THIS Morning babe Holly Willoughby has been targeted by a fan with a foot fetish who is sending her messages all about her feet online.

The 38-year-old blonde posted a picture of her outfit before she went on telly earlier this week.

In it she is wearing a white blouse, sexy short skirt, tights and high heel shoes.

The majority of her six million followers sent messages to say how nice she looked.

But one fan went into great detail all about her feet.

Stuartsfoster1984 said: "Really wish you would wear open/peep toe shoes more often I would love to see your toes wrapped in sexy nylons."

Sweaty

A pal of the telly presenter said: "Holly's been around the block a few times when it comes to people's fetishes, but this was a bit of a shock. "She isn't used to people talking about her feet in such a detailed way and it creeped her out a bit. "A woman should be able to post online pictures without people sexualising their feet."

Foot fetish fans get turned on by women's feet. Many are also into tights and stockings.

In its most extreme forms, the fetish sees men begging to lick women's sweaty feet.

It is not known how sweaty Holly's feet were in her tights.

STAGE IS SET FOR NEW INSIDE NO. 9

BBC Two's Inside No. 9 could be adapted for the stage, according to Steve Pemberton, who's written and starred in the comedy.

The programme, which begins its fifth series next month, introduces new characters and original story with every episode.

Pemberton said that a theatre version of the show is "possibly... something we'll look at in the future".

He added: "We certainly have talked about doing stage versions, whether it be pre-existing scripts or new ones."

However a film version of the programme is not under consideration "because, thankfully, they keep on recommissioning the series", he said.

Inside No. 9, which tells the stories of peculiar goings-on behind doors marked with the number nine, returns on February 3.

Ardal ignores Death to do more stand-up

ARDAL O'Hanlon has said he had to leave Death In Paradise to maintain his sharpness as a stand-up.

The actor, 54, announced last year that he was saying goodbye to the BBC crime drama after three sun-soaked years as DI Jack Mooney.

The show was filmed on the French-Caribbean island of Guadeloupe – where O'Hanlon said the heat and humidity were “astonishing”.

He told Radio Times that although it was an “incredible” experience, it was time to go.

“It's a tough gig, physically draining,” said the actor (above).

“You're working in incredible conditions and cannot sustain the intensity.”

“And I wanted to go back to stand-up.”

“If I'd left it another year, all my sharpness as a stand-up would have gone.”

“I announced I was doing tours and then I knew the writing was on the wall for Death In Paradise. Something has to give.”

BT phone home – not India or the Philippines!

ALL calls to BT's helplines are now being answered by staff in the UK and Ireland as the telecoms giant tries to boost its customer service reputation.

The company met its pledge to answer 100 per cent of customer service calls locally almost a year ahead of schedule, becoming the only major broadband provider to do so, it said.

Customers will be automatically patched through to their closest BT help centre when dialling in.

The company pledged in 2015 that it would answer all customer service calls in the UK or Ireland by the end of 2020.

The move came after customers complained about the level of service offered by call centres in India and the Philippines.

Duke accused of 'zero co-operation' in Epstein inquiry

A US lawyer has called for the Duke of York to "do the right thing" and assist authorities with their investigation into the Jeffrey Epstein sex trafficking inquiry.

Lisa Bloom, who represents five of Epstein's alleged victims, told BBC Newsnight: "It is time for anyone with information to come forward and answer questions."

"Prince Andrew himself is accused of sexual misconduct and he also spent a great deal of time with Jeffrey Epstein."

"So it's time to stop playing games and to come forward to do the right thing and answer questions."

And Gloria Allred, a lawyer for five of Epstein's accusers, told BBC Radio 4's Today programme: "If he has done nothing wrong, which appears to be what he has claimed, then why won't he talk to law enforcement?"

"No response is the same as zero co-operation. This is ridiculous – it's just not acceptable."

NEW ROYAL SCANDAL

I'M YOUR SON: Simon (above) and (below) Camilla and Charles

Engineer launches legal bid to prove he is their son

ROYAL CHEEKBONES: A younger Simon

THE ROYAL family have become embroiled in yet another scandal after a 53-year-old launched a legal bid to prove he is the real-life love child of Prince Charles and Camilla Parker Bowles.

Simon Dorante-Day, 53, is now heading to the High Court in Australia to try to force the heir to the throne and his second wife to take a DNA test.

He has admitted court clerks laughed when he first filed his papers.

And despite his legal claim being thrown out three times already he is refusing to give up his 40-year search for the truth about his birth parents.

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Simon claims his adoptive grandparents Winifred and Ernest worked for the Queen and Prince Philip as a cook and a gardener respectively and told him "many times" that he was Charles and Camilla's child.

Unbelievable

He has said previously: "I know it sounds unbelievable, but anything I say is checkable – I'm simply a man looking for my biological parents, and every road has led me back to Camilla and Charles."

Mr Dorante was born in Gosport, Hants, in April 1966 and adopted when he was 18-months-old by Winifred and Ernest's relatives Karen and David Day.

If his allegations are true, he would have had to have been conceived in 1965, when Charles was 17 and Camilla, 18, and he claims his Windsor-like cheekbones and teeth, and "Camilla-style hair", is evidence his claims are true.

He even calls himself "Prince Simon" on social media and his Facebook page is packed with posts where he matches his face from birth to today with Charles, Camilla and their children – with particular focus on Prince William and Tom Parker-Bowles.

He believes his parentage will have been discussed by the Queen, Prince Charles, Prince William and Prince Harry at this month's Sandringham summit where the terms of Harry and Meghan's "Megxit" deal to Canada were thrashed out.

Last year he caused upset having claimed Princess Diana's death in Paris in August 1997 came after "she was going to go public with it".

The British national denies claims his story is "bonkers" and dismisses critics who point out that his eyes are brown while Charles and Camilla both have blue eyes.

Speeder forged 'cancer' letter to dodge a fine

A LYING driver was jailed for faking that she was dying of terminal cancer – to dodge a speeding fine.

Sarah Hillier, 51, forged a letter from a consultant in a bid to dupe police into letting her off after she was clocked at 95mph.

A court heard Hillier first replied to the police by saying she hadn't been driving, and it was her ex-husband who had been behind the wheel.

But when convicted benefit fraudster Hillier was later quizzed by cops she produced a forged letter from a hospital consultant saying she'd been diagnosed with terminal cancer and was undergoing treatment, which was soon found out.

Hillier, of Llanelli, pleaded guilty to perverting the course of justice.

She was jailed for eight months at Swansea Crown Court.

Workers rescue life savings dumped in waste bin

HEROES: Kenny and Tony

TWO recycling centre workers spent the day digging through rubbish after a woman realised she had thrown away her mother's life savings of £20,000 by mistake!

Kenny McAdam and Tony Scanlon were on a shift at the Dalmoak Recycling Centre in Renton, West Dunbartonshire, when they were approached by a member of the public.

She'd called at the centre just a few hours earlier, to dump kitchen rubbish, before realising her mistake – the money was hidden inside five empty Bisto tins.

To save the family from panicking further, the pair got to work and took two hours to find one tub, with the other four being found just 20 minutes later.

Tony said: "She'd come in and dumped her bags. She came back a couple of hours later and said, 'I've thrown some bags out and there's money in them!'"

"You're just delighted for them to get their money back. It was a great feeling and a happy ending to the day for us."

"When she said it was five tins, there's going to be quite a few quid – the papers are saying £20,000. I don't know if it was that."

"You do a turn for somebody and don't expect all this. It's just a wee thing you do."

PAEDO SPARED JAIL AS HE WAS BULLIED

A UNIVERSITY student was spared any punishment for possessing indecent images after a court heard how he'd been bullied at school.

Ieuan Thomas had been found in possession of around 1,000 indecent images when police raided his home in March 2018, two days before his 18th birthday.

Judge Emma Nott, who gave Thomas a conditional discharge, told him to stay out of trouble and not to smoke any "spliffs" while at university.

She said: "Your account that you were brought into this through a third party seems to me to be right."

"It seems to me thereafter, through the natural curiosity of a teenager, it continued."

The 19-year-old, now attending Coventry University, had started downloading the images when he was just 15, after he suffered a tough time at school.

Prosecutor Russell Pyne said: "The police received information of a Twitter account linked to a specific telephone number and an email address."

"They went to the defendant's home address in Wokingham, Berks, and seized a mobile phone and laptop computer. Those items were forensically examined."

Mr Pyne told the court how, as well as the images, which included 330 category-A images, of the most serious kind, the police discovered search terms had been entered including "young" and "paedo".

Thomas had one previous conviction for an assault occasioning actual bodily harm and battery, which had been dealt with in the youth court, the prosecutor added.

Defending Ellis Green said: "This was something he was doing when aged 15 and 16 years. He essentially brought it to a stop. All the searches, the web pages, the bookmarks, they all finished in 2016."

"He was very severely bullied at school."

The judge gave Thomas a conditional discharge, which will last one year, and allowed him to walk free from court.

KOBE BRYANT PROVES IT'S BAD TO FLY IF YOU'RE BIG IN SPORTCOLIN McRAE

RALLY car champion Colin McRae was blamed for causing the helicopter crash in which he died along with his five-year-old son and two family friends.

A fatal accident inquiry found the crash, near his family home in Lanark, Scotland, in 2007, happened because he carried out unnecessary low-level manoeuvres.

The inquiry also found that McRae's flying was "imprudent" and "unreasonable".

In a statement, the family of McRae, who was just 39, said they "still believe we will never know what caused the crash".

MATTHEW HARDING

THE pilot of the helicopter in which Chelsea Football Club vice-chairman Matthew Harding died probably became "disoriented" just before the aircraft plunged to earth and burst into flames.

Multi-millionaire Harding, 42, pilot Michael Goss, 38, businessmen Tony Burridge, 39, and Raymond Deane, 43, and magazine journalist John Bauldie, 47, died instantly when the Twin Squirrel helicopter crashed into farmland near Middlewich, Cheshire.

It was carrying the party from a Chelsea v Bolton cup tie on October 22, 1996.

Chief air accident investigator Michael Charles later told an inquest in Knutsford, Cheshire, that former army pilot Mr Goss was probably trying to do "more than was achievable" in trying to fly single-handed in poor visibility in a helicopter without autopilot.

PAYNE STEWART

ON October 25, 1999, a private jet took off from Orlando International airport for Texas with golf's reigning US Open champion Payne Stewart, 42, on board.

But it never reached its destination – and millions of TV viewers witnessed the tragedy of its final flight.

The aircraft plunged from the sky more than one thousand miles from where it should have landed, killing its two pilots and four passengers.

The plane – which had suffered depressurisation, starving the occupants of oxygen – hit the ground with such force that it disintegrated beyond any possibility of investigative reconstruction.

US basketball legend Kobe Bryant died in a helicopter crash in California on Sunday, sparking an outpouring of grief from fans around the world.

Bryant, 41, and his daughter Gianna, 13, were among nine killed when the helicopter came down in thick fog in Calabasas. There were no survivors.

Bryant, a five-time NBA champion, played for the LA Lakers throughout his 20-year career and is considered one of the basketball greats.

Tributes from celebrities and fellow sports stars have been pouring in, many expressing shock at the star's sudden death.

Bryant has now joined a macabre club of major sporting figures who have met their makers after taking to the air.

DEATH PLUNGE:
Wreckage of the helicopterSTEVE HISLOP

MOTORCYCLE hero Steve Hislop perished when his chopper plunged 2,500ft shortly after taking off in Scotland in 2003.

A fatal accident inquiry at Edinburgh Sheriff Court later concluded the 41-year-old British Superbike champion crashed after the Robinson R44 went out of control in cloud.

The crash was officially put down to a tragic accident rather than pilot error, which air accident investigators had previously highlighted in a report.

Wreckage of the helicopter was found in the Teviothead hills, near Hawick, in July 2003 – just eight minutes after Hislop left a friend's home in Hawick to fly solo back to Buckinghamshire.

'Sex-for-rent' landlord's at it again, say BBC

A LANDLORD who offered a sex-for-rent agreement to an undercover BBC reporter has been accused of attempting a similar arrangement with another woman.

"Mike", of Wiltshire, was secretly filmed by the Beeb's Inside Out West in 2018 saying the "benefit" to his rental deal was "you sleep with me once a week".

The latest woman contacted the BBC to say he had made a similar offer to her.

Mike denied the accusation and claimed his Twitter account – where the 'offer' was made – had been hacked.

The anonymous woman, who was trying to find a flat in Bristol, said she initially thought it was a joke.

She said: "He messaged me saying 'you know I can offer you this in exchange for a sex-for-rent agreement?' I just said thanks but no thanks."

Mike had said of the 2018 encounter that he was just doing research for a book.

CHELSEA PALS:
Harding with ex-owner Ken BatesEMILIANO SALA

PILOT David Ibbotson could have jumped out of the plane carrying him and new Cardiff City striker Emiliano Sala before it crashed into the English Channel last year.

Mr Ibbotson was at the controls of a Piper Malibu aircraft which was taking the Argentinian footballer to South Wales from the French city of Nantes, where he had said his farewells to former team-mates after his transfer to the Bluebirds in January last year.

The plane disappeared north of Guernsey on January 21. After a search lasting several days, the wreckage was found and the body of Sala, 28, was recovered. The pilot's body has not been found.

A report by the Air Accidents Investigation Branch strongly suggested that both men had been seriously affected by carbon monoxide poisoning and may have been incapacitated and possibly unconscious when the accident happened.

VICHAL SRIVADDHANAPRABHA

THE helicopter crash which killed the chairman of Leicester City and four other people in 2018 was caused by a pin that had come loose in the tail rotor control mechanism.

The Air Accidents Investigation Branch found that the pin had become disconnected, resulting in the helicopter becoming unstable and preventing the pilot from controlling it.

Leicester City chairman Vichai Srivaddhanaprabha, 60, two of his staff, Nursara Suknamai and Kavorn Punpare, pilot Eric Swaffer and Mr Swaffer's girlfriend, Izabela Roza Lechowicz, were killed when the chopper crashed into a car park close to the King Power stadium on October 27 that year.

Investigators found the pilot's pedals had become disconnected from the tail rotor and caused the aircraft to make an uncontrollable right turn before it spun and fell, hitting the ground in a ball of flames.

John: Beeb licence fee's out of date!

THE BBC licence fee is "out of date", former political correspondent John Sergeant says.

The ex-journalist, 75 (above), said other means of paying for BBC programmes – such as subscription, programme sponsorship or even advertising – should be considered.

He made the comments as BBC boss Tony Hall prepares to step down as director-general in the summer after seven years in the job.

Sergeant (above) wrote in Radio Times magazine that Lord Hall's successor "will inherit an in-tray bursting with problems", including "placating female staff bitter about pay equality", and improving relations with the government.

But the main issue will be "how to reform the increasingly out of date funding system, based on the licence fee", he said.

Sergeant, who was the Beeb's chief political correspondent from 1992 to 2000, said "the case for the licence fee has been steadily eroded" by Netflix and Amazon.

But Patrick Bradley, 73, had his case thrown out after a judge heard he was arrested for stalking Sheila McKenzie, 56, and causing her "discomfort".

Mr Bradley's behaviour, which went on for seven years, fell short of criminal stalking and the couple only had sex twice.

The wealthy haulage contractor lavished his ex with cars and gifts and even renovated three homes for her.

At Perth Sheriff Court Sheriff William Wood dismissed Mr Bradley's bid to sue Ms McKenzie.

The businessman, from Aberfeldy, Perthshire, was found not guilty after a three-day trial of stalking Ms McKenzie between December 13, 2010 and May 11, 2018.

BUS SHAGGER TW*TTED DRIVER 'FOR WATCHING SEX SESSION'

A THUG having sex with a girl at the back of a bus PUNCHED a defenceless driver, who he accused of watching because he refused to turn out the lights.

Bradley Sherratt and pal Owen Cooper, both 20, launched a violent attack on a Trent Barton worker after travelling back from Nottingham to Derby on January 4.

The pair had enjoyed a night out and boarded the 3am bus back to Derby, along with a girl who was with Sherratt.

No one else was on board the bus.

South Derbyshire Magistrates' Court heard how Sherratt and the girl began romping at the back of the bus while Cooper sat at the front.

Sherratt shouted to Cooper to ask the driver to turn the lights out, which he did.

Perving

But the driver decided to turn them back on, as he felt something wasn't right.

He said he noticed the back seats of the bus were rocking, as though they were being kicked.

The court heard how Cooper then asked the driver "what you being a d for?" and "are you perving?"

Prosecutor Peter Bettany said the driver began to fear for his safety as Cooper got closer to him on the bus.

He said Cooper called him a "perv" and swore at him repeatedly as they passed through traffic lights.

The driver asked the group if they wanted to get off the bus, which they refused.

The court heard how Sherratt then became "violent and very aggressive" and struck the driver on his cheek while holding his mobile phone.

He then punched him again.

Charles Clark, mitigating, said too much booze impaired the mens' behaviour.

Sherratt and Cooper, both of Derby, pleaded guilty to assault and threatening behaviour.

They were both given eight-week prison sentences, suspended for 12 months.

Cooper was ordered to do 180 hours of unpaid work, while Sherratt received 200 hours.

A PUBLIC footpath that cuts through a naturist campsite will be re-routed to spare hikers' blushes.

The walkway runs alongside 15 caravan pitches at Dolgoed camping site in Maesycrugiau, Carmarthenshire.

But nudists were fed up of people gawping at their busters and some hikers were left red-faced at getting an eyeful as they walked past.

So the council has agreed to move the path away from the nuddy people.

After a process lasting almost two years, the existing path will be blocked up and a new route put in around the edge of the site.

Relieved

Jo Eveleigh, who runs the campsite with her husband Mike, said: "We're relieved it's over and done with and the path is going to be diverted."

She described the original path as "an error" as it ran through the middle of her house – which dates back 200 years – and out of a back door she does not have.

Llanllwni Community Council wanted the path moved to "reduce the possibility of the public coming into contact with, or sight of, the users of the campsite".

Mrs Eveleigh added: "It's better for everybody concerned – better for us, better for our neighbours."

Aussies: no more koala gifts please

BIG-hearted animal lovers have been asked to STOP sending protective clothing for koala bears injured in Australia's raging bushfires.

Oz animal protection groups say they've been inundated with items kindly donated by people across the globe wanting to do their bit for wildlife.

And they are now swamped with bizarre goods – like koala mitts – they simply can't use.

The Animal Rescue Collective Craft Guild said in a tweet: "Thank you for your support, solidarity, kind words and thoughts, and crafted items so far."

"But we ask you, PLEASE do not send any more items to Australia."

ROSS: A NEW FRIENDS WOULD BE ALL-BLACK

HIT sitcom Friends will NOT be coming back – unless it was an "all-black or all-Asian" reboot, says one of its former stars.

Speculation over a new series hit fever pitch after all six original cast members reunited for an Instagram snap back in October.

But actor David Schwimmer, 53 (left), who played paleontologist Ross Geller on the show, shut down rumours of further episodes – although he'd still be open to an one-off, chat-show reunion.

He explained: "Why mess with what felt like the right way to end the series? I don't want to do anything for the money."

"It would have to make sense creatively and nothing I've heard so far presented to us makes sense. Maybe there should be an all-black Friends or an all-Asian Friends."

CHANGED WORLD:
Myers as Austin Powers

SHAGADELIC, BABY!

Rita Ora lined up for new Austin Powers movie

POP babe Rita Ora is set to be cast in the fourth Austin Powers movie.

The stunning blonde singer, who made her acting debut in the 50 Shades series, will play the leading lady opposite Mike Myers as the spy.

The flick will be directed once again by Jay Roach, who helmed the first three movies.

Wishlist

It has been 18 years since the last film, Goldmember, and the latest instalment will see Powers trying to operate in a post #metoo environment.

Rita, 29, is said to be very keen on the role and is top of the producers' wishlist.

Also in the frame is Myers' long time collaborator Seth Green, who played Scott Evil.

Verne Troyer – Mini Me in all three movies – has sadly died but insiders say his passing will be marked in some way in the movie.

Roach said: "I'm always game for whatever Mike Myers wants to do. He and I always thought there was more to do with Dr. Evil."

A Hollywood insider said: "This is the perfect time to do it. Powers will be a much older man in a world that is as different to the one he was unfrozen in was to the 1960s."

"With all the #metoo stuff around these days – meaning he is terrified to even talk to a woman – this movie basically writes itself."

Nicki Minaj bro is jailed for 25 years

THE brother of rapper Nicki Minaj has been sentenced to a minimum of 25 years in prison for sexually assaulting an 11-year-old girl at his home.

A judge convicted Jelani Maraj (above with his sister) of predatory sexual assault and child endangerment in November 2017. The victim gave evidence during the trial that Maraj repeatedly raped her in 2015 in Long Island while her mother was at work.

Prosecutors have said DNA evidence recovered from the girl's pyjamas was linked to Maraj. The girl's younger brother also gave evidence at the trial that he witnessed one assault.

Maraj's lawyer appealed against the conviction in 2018, claiming there was jury misconduct. The judge ruled in October that the defence did not meet the necessary burden of proof.

Maraj said in court on Monday that he had an alcohol problem and health issues and asked for a "second chance".

His lawyer said he plans to appeal against the judge's decision.

Cross-dresser spotted w*nking in undies while jumping on bed

A CROSS-DRESSER was seen "trampolining" on his bed in a basque, stockings and suspenders while carrying out a lewd act, a court heard.

Luke Proctor, 33, who was found guilty last October on three counts of outraging public decency, has now failed in an appeal.

He claimed what he'd done was "a form of self-expression," and not for sexual thrills. He admitted forgetting to close the curtains at his home in Telford, Shropshire.

He was clearly visible to neighbours and passers-by. Proctor appeared at Shrewsbury's Crown Court to try to get his conviction overturned. He claimed that he didn't do cross dressing for sexual gratification, and that he tried hard to keep it a secret since he began at the age of around 11 or 12.

A witness previously told the court how she saw him "trampolining" on his bed in women's underwear, carrying out an indecent act alone. His explanation was that he sometimes put in his ear buds and danced to music while wearing ladies lingerie, and forgot to shut the curtains that time.

When asked by his defence advocate Rob Edwards whether he did it for sexual kicks, Proctor said no, and that it was more "a form of self-expression".

On another occasion, when Proctor was seen in nothing but grey boxer shorts appearing to be carrying out a sex act, he insisted that he was just fixing curtains that had partially come off the rail.

But the prosecutor insisted Proctor "wanted to be seen".

When police came to arrest him, they seized some of the women's underwear from a drawer where he kept a stash of kinky items.

Judge Anthony Lowe did not buy Proctor's version of events but downgraded his sentence of six months' jail suspended to a two-year community order.

Pussycat
Doll Ashley

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

ASHLEY Roberts stunned in a cutout catsuit as she posed on Instagram ahead of the Pussycat Dolls tour.

The 38-year-old pop star showed off her incredible figure, and what she'll be wearing on stage, in the tight, black, body stocking.

One of Ashley's legs was completely exposed as she slipped the other into the sheer stocking.

But what really caught the eye were PVC panels which protected her modesty.

The squeaky, shiny fabric has long been adored by fetish fans – and it's crossed over into the mainstream with eye-popping results.

Today we pay tribute to this mega-sexy material...

Ol' Loo Eyes is back with posh bogs auction!

THREE gold-topped toilets on which Frank Sinatra had a poo have been sold at auction.

The loos were from the legendary crooner's "Chairman's Suite" at the Golden Nugget hotel in Atlantic City.

The lavish Italian marble-and-gold lavs, made by New York firm Sherle Wagner International, were among a collection of Sinatra goodies up for grabs by SS Auction Inc.

The assortment also included furniture, lamps, artwork and antique clocks from one of Ol' Blue Eyes' many homes.

Estimated to have cost as much as £25,000 when new, the fancy commodes actually went for a bargain price of just £3,000 each.

The auction house warned interested bidders that while the toilets' marble is in good condition, their golden seats have lost some of their lustre.

Rare grave found during home dig

THE 2,000-year-old grave of an Iron Age "warrior" has been unearthed by archaeologists digging in West Sussex.

The recently-revealed burial site – one of only a handful known in the south of England – also featured an iron spear and a sword in a highly decorated scabbard.

Described as "incredibly rare" the grave was found during excavations ahead of the building of 175 new homes near Chichester.

SHE SAID I'M PREGNANT...SO HE BURNT HER ALIVE

LOOKING FOR LOVE: Amelia was besotted with Abdool – but he didn't feel the same way about her

IT'S impossible to imagine the fear and pain that poor Amelia Sookdeo suffered as her body was consumed by flames.

What we do know, because of the subsequent autopsy report, is that the 17-year-old screamed in anguish shortly after Dane Abdool had flicked his lighter.

Amelia had physically inhaled a fireball, taking the inferno deep into her lungs.

Sadistic Abdool had also poured the petrol on her abdomen, as if specifically targeting his unborn child.

By BRAD CHADWICK

Terrified Amelia didn't stand a chance. Her ordeal could have lasted several minutes before her life eventually ebbed away.

Court documents state: "The fire that killed her was propelled by an accelerant. The burns were consistent with having most of the accelerant pooled in the lower abdomen and upper thigh area."

"The autopsy revealed soot in her lungs, meaning Amelia was alive and able to pull in air while her body was burning.

"After she inhaled the burning air, Amelia could have remained conscious for up to a couple of minutes."

Assistant State Attorney Robin Wilkinson also told a jury in Orange County, Florida: "Her body was so charred that nobody could recognise Amelia Sookdeo."

Nightmare

When Abdool, from Winter Park, Florida, was sentenced to death for his atrocity in 2006, Amelia's family members didn't think the punishment went far enough.

Instead of the lethal injection that Abdool now faces, they want him put to death by fire too – and they'd be more than happy to stand and watch him burn on his way to hell.

Amelia's grandfather, Jack Sookdeo, sobbed: "I personally believe that he should get the same penalty as he gave my granddaughter."

"He should have been burned to death, and I should have been the one to do that, but there's the law."

"I can't, but I want to." High school student Amelia, sister to older brother Andrew, was besotted with Abdool.

But he was every parents' worst nightmare.

A college drop-out and car mechanic, then aged 19, he enjoyed an on-off relationship with Amelia and frequently bedded other women – in particular another girlfriend called Denise.

To Abdool, Amelia was nothing more than a way to enjoy meaningless sex.

But for impressionable young teenager Amelia, their relationship meant so much more.

As prosecutor Robin Wilkinson put it: "She was a young girl looking for love and someone to listen to her."

On the night of February 25, 2006, Amelia had been at the home of her best friend, Natasha Jagllal, gushing about Abdool while boasting of her plans to meet up with him that night.

At around 10pm, Amelia slipped out of her bedroom – escaping the watchful eye of nervous and attentive mum Maddree – and opened the door to Abdool's Volkswagen Jetta as he waited outside and climbed in.

The pair returned to Abdool's flat, had a few drinks and made love.

At the time, Amelia could not have been happier.

She had previously confided in Abdool that she thought she might be pregnant. She hoped a child would cement their love.

As it turns out, Amelia wasn't pregnant. It's impossible to know whether she was lying in an attempt to win him over, or was simply mistaken.

Little did Amelia know Abdool had actually been plotting to murder her for weeks.

Charred

When they drove to his flat that night, he had already purchased the industrial tape and canister of petrol that would seal her fate.

Amelia's smouldering body was discovered by a police officer in the early hours of the next morning, charred beyond recognition.

The officer, Kristen Campbell, recalled: "I saw tennis shoes and legs. It was a body on fire."

Cops fingered Abdool

MURDER PLOT:

as the perpetrator and brought him in for questioning.

During a videotaped interrogation, Abdool at first attempted to deny all knowledge of his girlfriend's agonising demise.

Court records state: "On the tape, Abdool first stated that he had not seen Amelia for a while before she disappeared.

"Abdool admitted that he had had a prior relationship with Amelia but said he was trying to disassociate himself from her because he had another girlfriend.

"He also stated that Amelia 'just keeps calling, calling and calling' him, even though he always tells her that he is busy."

Eventually, under the weight of questioning, Abdool buckled and confessed his grisly sin.

He moaned: "She started acting stupid. She started to annoy me. "She's lying on the couch and I'm like, you know, just put your clothes back on and let's go."

Amelia, upset with how she was being treated, demanded to be taken home.

Instead, Abdool drove her to an isolated dirt road and proceeded to terrorise her.

The court records go on: "At some point, Amelia told Abdool to pull over. She said that she would walk home.

Wrestling

"So Abdool said he pulled over, got out, and dragged Amelia out of the vehicle.

"Abdool related that he was really annoyed with Amelia because she called him every day and got on his nerves.

"After he got her out of the car, he pulled out the duct tape and wrapped it around her.

"He then went to the back of his car and retrieved the gasoline and his gloves.

"As he pulled out the gasoline, Amelia said, 'Oh, are you trying to kill me?'

"He then poured the gasoline on her, the two started wrestling and Amelia fell down.

"As she got back up and came towards him, Abdool lit the lighter and Amelia caught on fire.

"The detectives then asked Abdool what happened when Amelia caught on fire. He answered that she was standing up and was 'yelling and cursing and throwing her hands all over the place'.

"He said that her whole body was burning and that she ran towards the car and hit the front fender."

Abdool then returned to his car, stood by it and watched for several minutes – seemingly mesmerised – as Amelia's life went up in smoke.

He did not try to put out the flames, nor did he call for help.

In a final, shockingly callous act, Abdool took his vehicle to a car wash on his way home to get 'it' off his motor.

And by 'it', he meant

Amelia's bloody remains.

In mitigation, Abdool argued that 'a person can only go so far, can only take so much'.

But when his trial got under way in February 2008, he was portrayed as the monster he really is.

Two acquaintances of Abdool's – Julian Pinnock and Visham Adjoda – described how he had asked them to kill Amelia or her unborn baby several months before her eventual murder.

Hitting

Pinnock testified that Abdool said he wanted to kill her and offered him money to do it for him, but he refused.

Another man, Mickey Budhoo, described how Abdool said he wanted to cause a miscarriage by hitting Amelia in the stomach.

The jury also heard how, up until that point, Abdool had been both well liked by friends and much loved by his church-going family.

He was described by many as 'generous', 'kind' and 'very hard-working' – which only makes his actions all the more shocking.

His defence lawyers argued that he only ever intended to 'scare' Amelia, to teach her a lesson in order that she might leave him alone.

But in May 2008, Orange County Circuit Court Judge Lisa Munyon sentenced Abdool to death.

And it was the words of Amelia's father, Deolall, which touched people the most.

This broken-hearted, once doting dad – who sadly passed away in 2014 – said: "The police officer came up and said a body had been found out on State Road 545, and that it was my daughter.

"I just wish I could have been at that scene where she was murdered to protect her and to help her, but I wasn't there.

"Every time I see a young girl out there, I just say a prayer for them, because you never know what kind of people are out there like Dane Abdool.

"That's all I can do now – pray."

BIGFOOT NABBED BY COPS

CAUGHT ON CAM:
Abominable
Snowman

BIGFOOT has been sensationally caught on a police camera wandering through the countryside. The Washington State Department of Transportation captured photos of the mythical creature on its Sherman Pass on State Route 20 webcam. And now officials are saying they also have a vid of the Abominable Snowman in another location.

Wildlife

The transportation department's Twitter account for Snoqualmie Pass traffic shared a video of what appears to be Bigfoot walking along the wildlife overcrossing on Interstate 90.

The account tweeted: "I think Bigfoot is making the rounds across our mountain passes."

It isn't the first time Bigfoot has been spotted in this area.

State spokesman Ryan Overton said there have been strange sightings for years at the Sherman Pass webcam location.

He added: "In fact, over roughly 15 years different things have popped up in front of the camera."

Shoplifter jailed over Lemsip theft

A SERIAL shoplifter who stole 12 boxes of cold and flu relief remedies has been banged up.

Raymond Parkes, 42, was snared after he took Lemsip worth £60 from a Boots store on January 16.

Grimby Magistrates' Court heard how Parkes, of Scunthorpe, has 116 previous offences to his name, including 66 for theft.

Richard Lunn, defending, said of Parkes: "He is what some would refer to as a seasoned campaigner."

After pleading guilty to theft, Parkes was jailed for 18 weeks and ordered to pay £227 in fines and costs.

THAT'S A FANNY MISTAKE, GWYN!

Actress reveals she doesn't know what a VAGINA is...

By SUZIE SHELDON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

GWYNETH Paltrow may have released a candle which smells like a fanny but she revealed this week she doesn't even know what a VAGINA is.

The shocking revelation came on the actress's new Netflix show The Goop Lab when she was chatting to a sex expert all about women's minges.

And it comes despite her previous suggestions ladies should STEAM their mimsies and put JADE EGGS inside them.

Talking to veteran New York feminist Bett Dodson on the first show which aired last week, Gwyneth, 47, first talked at length about the magic of a lady's private parts before saying: "It's our favourite subject – vaginas."

But the sexy blonde was corrected by Dodson, 90, who told her: "The vagina is the birth canal only. You want to talk about the vulva – that's the clitoris, the inner lips and all that good shit around it."

But Gwyneth, looking shocked, replied: "I thought the vagina was the whole thing?"

The blonde actress has come under fire in the past for the suggested benefits of some of the bizarre therapies sold through her £200m Goop network.

Last week she joked that she was influenced by mind-bending MAGIC MUSHROOMS when she came up with the idea to sell a £60 candle smelling like her love tunnel.

She was revealing the thought process behind her company's product, the now sold-out 'This Smells Like My Vagina' candle.

'Despicable' junkie robbed RAF veteran

A MUGGER is facing jail after he admitted robbing an 81-year-old RAF veteran on Remembrance Day.

Junkie Frankie Finn, 22, pleaded guilty to attacking the pensioner in an alley in Plymouth, Devon.

He'd grabbed the old man's jacket and pulled him to the ground in what police called an "appalling and despicable attack".

Finn had attacked the victim, who walks with the aid of a stick, from behind and rifled through his jacket to snatch his wallet, which contained £60 in cash plus cards.

Finn, of Plymouth, admitted robbery at the city's crown court and a judge warned him he faces an inevitable jail term when he is sentenced next month.

BILLIONAIRE GIVES TWITTER FANS £7M

A BILLIONAIRE fashionista is generously giving away £7MILLION to his Twitter followers.

Japanese fashion tycoon Yusaku Maezawa said it is a "social experiment" – to see if the payment boosts their happiness.

Maezawa will give one million yen – nearly £7,000 – to 1,000 followers selected at random from those who retweeted a January 1 post, with the impact of the money to be tracked through regular surveys.

"It's a serious social experiment," said Maezawa on YouTube, saying he hopes to attract interest from academics and economists.

Maezawa, 44 (left), who will be the first private passenger to fly around the Moon with Elon Musk's SpaceX, is known for his high spending on art and sports cars.

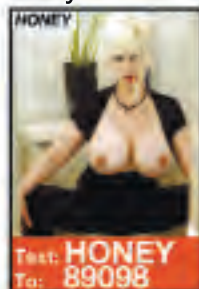

He tied the giveaway to the idea of basic income that has gained traction in political circles.

Cheerleader ex on murder rap breaches bail

A CRUISE ship singer accused of murdering his blind cheerleader girlfriend has been charged with breaching his bail conditions.

Jayden Moorea, 46, allegedly threw Breeana Robinson, 21 (above), from the balcony of his 11-storey flat back in 2013.

Her death was initially considered a suicide but Moorea was charged with murder last year and granted bail on the condition he wears a GPS tracking bracelet and reports to police regularly.

Moorea has now been charged with breaching his bail conditions for failing to report to them last month.

He pleaded not guilty at Southport Magistrates' Court on Australia's Gold Coast and the murder trial will take place later this year.

The cheerleader's aunt, Janine Mackney, has never accepted the initial view Breeana took her own life, and embarked on a relentless campaign to convince authorities otherwise.

Cake eating contest kills contestant

A WOMAN in her 60s has died during a cake eating competition.

The unnamed victim was taking part in the foodie event at a pub in Scarness, Hervey Bay, Australia, on Sunday when she had a seizure.

Witnesses said the pub's security guard and manager rushed to her aid and started performing CPR while an ambulance was called.

Witness Della Firth wrote on Facebook she'd spoken to the woman earlier in the day, and that she went into arrest after she "shovelled the Lamington into her mouth".

Lamington is a popular Aussie cake made from squares of sponge and coated in an outer layer of chocolate sauce and desiccated coconut.

The woman died later at a nearby hospital.

JESSIE J: I PREFER HOUSEWORK TO SEX!

Millionaire Messenger!

FORMER glamour model Melinda Messenger has revealed how she was paid £25,000 to hold a Pot Noodle and pocketed a whopping £250,000 for a 10-second voiceover ad for Argos.

The 48-year-old said she raked in the cash at the height of her fame in the 1990s.

But the mum-of-three said she doesn't earn anywhere near as much now as in her heyday as she trains as a psychotherapist.

Melinda told the Sunday Times: "I still do bits and pieces of media work, but I've been training as a psychotherapist for more than five years, so I've had to do a rejig and start spending as little as possible."

"It's certainly a big change from the sort of money I was earning when I started modelling for national newspapers."

"In my first week, I got paid what used to be a year's wages for me - £25,000 for an hour spent holding a Pot Noodle."

"I remember thinking it must be a mistake."

BARE FACTS: Romping is only fourth on singer's list of pleasures

SINGER Jessie J has revealed how she would rather slave in front of a hot stove - or do a bit of tidying up - than have SEX.

The 31-year-old Do It Like a Dude singer admitted that romping was FOURTH on the list of her favourite pleasures - behind cooking, cleaning and singing.

The Londoner, whose romance with ex-lover Channing Tatum is now back on, gave an insight into her morning routine by divulging: "I'll do some housework in the morning."

By JAYNE FERGUSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

"I work off 'to-do lists' and go through each room with my assistant and sort out what needs doing, or buying."

She revealed: "Tidying is my love language. Cooking, organising, singing and sex are my favourite things, in that order."

She added: "If I wasn't a singer, I'd be a house organiser like Marie Kondo."

She also said that she doesn't like working late and gets home by 6pm, taking a long bath before putting on some 'sexy underwear' and going to bed alone.

She told the Sunday Times Magazine: "I don't like late-night sessions, so I'll finish work at around six and go home."

"In the evenings, I like to unwind with a bath or meditation."

"I put on nice music, light candles, do a face mask, put on sexy underwear and just be with myself."

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Tess,

I RECENTLY moved to a new house and my neighbour, a tasty sort in her late 30s, soon introduced herself.

She invited me to a quiz night at the local boozer with her and two mates. I thought I'd have a good chance of pulling her, so I said yes.

When I got there her mates were at the bar. They were also late 30s, blonde and sexy. It soon became clear that they were not interested in the quiz – they wanted me.

I invited them back and they took turns to suck me off. I shagged all three before they got down to some lesbo fun. It was great to watch them sucking each other's tits and clits.

To finish, my neighbour stuck a dildo up my arse while I took one of her mates from behind as she licked her pal on.

We don't go to the quiz nights now, they just come to my place and we fk. I'm so glad I moved and several of my mates are now looking for houses here.

CL, east Midlands

Tess says...

I BET they are!

Dear Tess,

I WAS out with Scooby (my spaniel) in the park when I passed this blonde of about 22 walking her terrier.

Scooby got a bit randy and started sniffing her dog's arse, so we had a good laugh about it and then started a chat about our naughty pets' behaviour.

Then, out of the blue, she said she hadn't had a man for ages and asked me back to hers for a shag.

I was well up for it and couldn't get back to her place quick enough, where we headed for the bedroom and quickly stripped off to get down to business.

But the trouble is I couldn't come because her dog was sat there watching from the end of the bed.

I like her a lot, but now I fear she thinks I'm impotent.

What can I do?

TB, west Wales

Tess says...

ARE you barking mad? Go back and try again.

Horny gym cleaner got down and dirty with me

Dear Tess,

I'M 21 and for the last six months I've been working at a gym, where I've become friendly with one of the cleaners.

She's 40 and married, but she has still got a great body.

A few weeks back she was cleaning the reception desk and I could see her G-string poking out of the top of her jeans.

She caught me having a glimpse and then quickly led me to the ladies' toilets.

She locked the cubicle door and pushed me down onto the loo seat.

Then she stripped naked – showing me her amazing tits and arse.

By this time, I'd whipped my cock out and she got on her knees and sucked on it until I exploded all over her face.

I then bent her over the toilet seat and boned her doggy-style while sticking a finger-up her bum.

But now I feel a bit guilty because she's married.

What do you think?

TK, Lancs

Tess says...

SHE'S obviously not bothered, so what happens next is up to you.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week TESS O'REILLY has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

So sad that romp with lesbos was a one-off

Dear Tess

I'VE recently achieved my lifelong fantasy and had a fantastic threesome with two hot lesbians.

They work in my office and I've always fancied them – they're both as fit as butcher's dogs and have long hair down to their arses, which is something I like in a woman.

Because they bat for the other side, though, I never thought I'd end up in the sack with either of them.

However, my dream came true after the three of us went for a drink after work to celebrate pulling off a major contract for our company.

We were chatting about our success and having a bit of a laugh when I plucked up the courage to ask if they'd ever been with a man.

To my surprise, they said they had – and added that occasionally they enjoyed a romp with a bloke.

I jokingly offered my services and was at first taken aback, then excited, when they said OK and invited me back to their place.

We caught a taxi and by the time we reached their flat I was aching to get started – I had a hard-on that could punch a hole in a brick wall!

They took me to their bedroom and sat me on a chair before slowly stripping each other off.

Twitching

Then they began kissing and caressing each other's tits before moving down to their sopping wet pussies.

As they got in the 69 position and began lapping at each other, I hurried out of my clothes and stood over them, my cock all twitching and eager for action.

One of them reached out and gripped my manhood and began sliding her hand up and down the shaft and teasing my bellend.

Then she pulled me onto the bed, where they then took turns to suck me off while playing with each other's breasts.

I was in ecstasy as I watched their heads bobbing up and down in front of my groin, taking my rock-hard cock deep to the back of their throats.

I felt my balls tighten and I was soon ready to explode.

One then climbed on top of me and guided my rod into her as her pal sucked on her nipples.

When she manoeuvred herself so that her fanny was inches from my mouth, I almost passed out.

I shagged them both twice – and we all had huge orgasms – before going home ecstatic.

I'd love to do it again, but the girls say no because they've had their bit of "bloke fun".

What can I do to change their minds?

TC, Berkshire

Tess says...

NOTHING, I reckon. Just be happy to have had the experience.

Dear Tess,

MY boss's wife is 48, but she's a really fit blonde with a nice figure.

A couple of weeks ago, she threw a surprise party for her hubby and I was the only person from work who got invited.

I wasn't sure why, but I wasn't going to turn down the opportunity of some free food and booze.

Anyway, the boss's wife looked great in a black dress, which showed off her recent boob job, and as the night went on we got chatting and flirting and she made it clear she was well up for a sneaky fk.

We arranged to meet in the bathroom and she wasted no time in getting my dick out and wrapping her hot lips round it.

Then she whipped off her knickers and I took her hard and fast from behind as she leaned over the sink.

I've seen her a few times since, but now she wants me to "look after" two of her mates the same way!

They're both in their 50s but not really that attractive.

And she said if I don't do them, she'll get me bloody sacked.

What should I do?

VC, east Yorkshire

Tess says...

SWALLOW your pride or get another job.

I lost bet but got great sex pay-off

Dear Tess,

AFTER a disappointing sex session with my husband, I bet him £10 he couldn't keep me satisfied for an hour in the sack.

That was a bit crafty of me, because I knew he could not refuse – he's gambling mad, you see.

The next night he came back from the pub with two mates, all raring to give me one.

I was shocked at first, but I had been desperate for a really good seeing-to for so long that I was happy to put my doubts aside and let them have me.

They did, too, and I got the best non-stop screwing of my life for well over an hour.

They were both rock-hard and knew their way about a woman's body and I must have had half-a-dozen orgasms as they took me all ends up.

When we'd finished, my hubby demanded I pay up because he said I didn't specify whose cock.

I paid him my tenner – but then he took £20 off each of the lads.

He'd bet them he could find a good-looking woman who'd pay a tenner to screw the pair of them!

JR, Dorset

Tess says...

GREAT. Everyone's a winner!

'I love being the deep throat queen on a sex tape'

I GET incredibly turned on by filming myself and a bloke having sex.

It really brings out the naughty little minx in me! My imagination goes wild.

The second the record button is pressed, it's like a switch.

I'm body confident and I love to steal the limelight. I love the power I have when I'm feeling sexy and want to show my body and my moves off!

I sometimes start off putting on a sensual show for the camera - for example, rubbing baby oil all over my boobs, bum and thighs.

I can get really carried away with this when I touch my clit and bring myself to climax.

And sucking cock while being recorded makes me really go for it. I'm the deep throat queen.

There is nothing hotter than a close-up of a hard dick pounding my wet pussy.

I sometimes watch the movies back to get me and my guy in the mood. But often I'm just hungry to make more horny clips!

HOTTIE Tommie Jo has a kinky way to get fit for the spring time – more BUM FUN.

The glamour babe, who boasts 32G boobs, confessed she's a massive fan of anal play.

Tommie Jo, 31, from Romford, Essex, also revealed her fella let her stick a finger up his chocolate starfish.

"I have always been quite good at getting him to try some new things," she said.

"He was really reluctant to do that. Blokes are funny about having their arses toyed with – I think they reckon it will hurt or something.

"But when they want to do something to your bum, it's always 'Nah baby, don't worry, this won't hurt a bit'.

"Luckily, my man doesn't have that problem with me though – because I love a finger up MY arse during sex!"

REDS FIRM FAVS TO HIT 70 POINTS

DESPITE being held to a draw at Shrewsbury on Sunday in the 4th Round of the FA Cup, Liverpool continue to break records this season and their 67 points out of a possible 69 is five more than any other club in the history of top-flight English football after 23 games since the beginning of the season.

Yes they rode their luck at Molineux again on Thursday but their late winner by Roberto Firmino – if anyone else calls him Bobby I shall spontaneously combust – highlighted their resilience and class and I would be surprised if West Ham were able to stop the red juggernaut at the London Stadium this evening.

Liverpool are likely to again have to do without Sadio Mane who was injured at Molineux on Thursday, but they are 1/3 at BetVictor to reach 70 points for the season with the Irons 17/2 to cause what would have to be considered as a shock with the draw at 17/2.

Irons' boss David Moyes' fielded a strong side against Championship side West Brom on Saturday and the home fans had to wait until the 90th minute to see their team have a shot on target.

West Ham are only above the drop zone on goal difference and they are 7/4 at BetVictor to be relegated at the end of the campaign.

Buffer

Raul Jimenez's goal for Wolves was the first Jurgen Klopp's side had conceded in 725 minutes of football in the Premier League and the recommendation for this evening's game must be for Liverpool to win to nil against shot-shy West Ham at 11/8.

Holders Manchester City take a two-goal lead into tonight's League Cup semi-final second leg at home to neighbours United and, despite putting six past hapless Tranmere Rovers on Sunday, it is hard to make a case for Ole Gunnar Solskjaer's side.

Yes, they did win the corresponding league fixture between the sides 2-1 last month but they were able to sit back and hit City on the counter on that occasion. Guardiola's City may sit back more than they would normally do this evening with their two-goal buffer, and you feel United must score first. If they do?

City are 2/7 to win the tie with United 8s and the draw at 22/5 at BetVictor.

It promises to be a tremendous derby and United are likely to, at some stage, have to throw caution to the wind. This is likely to be their downfall although the bottom line is that City are a class apart from United at present.

City to win and both teams to score is 17/10 with BetVictor and that is the recommendation with a 3-1 correct score looking overpriced at 21/2.

Arteta's Gunner buy a defender

MUSTAFI KNOCK FORCES MIK INTO MARKET

ARSENAL face a late scramble to sign a defender after Shkodran Mustafi joined the queue in the treatment room.

The German stopper hurt his ankle during the Gunners' FA Cup win at Bournemouth.

He was stretched off and it didn't look like a minor problem.

Boss Mikel Arteta is already without Calum Chambers, Kieran Tierney and Sead Kolasinac from his backline.

He now faces an anxious wait to see how long Mustafi will be on the sidelines.

Arteta said: "We'll be assessing him but when a central defender has to come off, hopefully I'm wrong, but normally it's not good news.

By PAUL THOMAS

"We have a very clear intention of what we wanted to do in the market with the resources we have.

"If we can do it that's fine but his fitness won't change that."

Arteta decided to play some of his youngsters against the Cherries and was impressed with their efforts.

The likes of Bukayo Saka and Eddie Nketiah have given the boss a headache with strong performances.

The Spaniard said: "I'm very pleased, I knew it was going to be tough against Bournemouth.

"We played a really young squad and wanted to see their reaction, and I'm very pleased.

"In the first half I think we were really, really good. I'm excited that everything we planned came together in a good way.

"They are important, the core of that team at the moment.

"So to play with that accountability, I really like it.

"The young players were terrific, their work-rate, and for me as well the courage to play, to make big decisions and not just play it safe.

"You look at Nketiah on the wing and then three seconds later he's in the middle of the goal.

"He's always in the middle of the goal to score, and the way he works off the ball is terrific."

Saka has been impressed with Arteta since he took over from Unai Emery.

He said: "Mikel's trying to bring back the philosophy, the Arsenal passing way, and I think we played really good football."

And Nketiah is determined to get more time in the first team. He added: "It's nice to be back. I had a great experience on loan at Leeds."

"It's a dream to play for Arsenal and I'm grateful for this opportunity. I think we can play sharp football."

WE CAN DO A PSG ON CITY

OLE Gunnar Solskjaer believes Manchester United can repeat their Paris St Germain heroics against City.

The Reds take on their neighbours in the semi-final of the Carabao Cup with a 3-1 deficit from the first leg at the Etihad. That is a tall order but the strike by Marcus Rashford is giving the Norwegian hope.

He points to the miracle pulled off in Paris against the French giants last season. That night, United won 3-1 at the Parc Des Princes to reach the Champions League quarters.

By JOHN ANTHONY

A repeat of that scoreline would take the game into extra-time and lift the gloom around Old Trafford.

Solskjaer knows his team cannot afford to put a foot wrong but he is taking heart from the second-half performance in the first game.

He said: "It looked like it was over at half-time.

"I have to say the second part of that first half, they outplayed us for a while and it's hard.

"But then when we got the goal, of course you're back in it, we hope for another one.

"But now we've got to go into the memory bank and think PSG because we've done it against good teams before and it gives us some hope, and the game in December of course gives us hope that we can do something there.

"It has to be a perfect performance to win with two goals against such a good team away from home, so for us it's not about away goals, we just need to score two more than them.

"When they happen and how it happens, if we concede two we need to score four, so it would be good not to concede first because that makes it less difficult."

Solskjaer's biggest problem is his injury list. There is no chance of the likes of Paul Pogba being fit to face City.

But confidence is high after seeing off Tranmere 6-0 in the FA Cup at the weekend.

Break

Solskjaer has sprung to the defence of Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp who says he'll field the kids in his fourth round replay with Shrewsbury.

That's because the game comes in the middle of the first Premier League winter break.

He also admits that United did the wrong thing when they didn't play in the FA Cup at all when he was a player with the club back in 2000.

Solskjaer said: "I think we all regret maybe not going for it in 2000, when we went to the World Club tournament in Brazil and it's never nice not to be participating.

"It's supposed to be a break and if we're going to help the English clubs, they need a break.

"But that's up to Jurgen and Liverpool to make decisions. Jose Mourinho and Tottenham, they've got a replay.

"We're just happy we didn't get a replay ourselves because it was playing on our mind, 'what's going to happen if?' Maybe three days' less holiday."

NO DEAL: Cavani

Cav snubs Chelsea to sign for Atletico

CHELSEA look set to miss out on Edinson Cavani as the PSG striker moves closer to joining Atletico Madrid.

Boss Frank Lampard is a long-time admirer of the 32-year-old who could leave Paris for as little as £12m.

Chelsea are happy to pay that fee but Cavani would rather move to Spain at this stage of his career.

If Cavani doesn't arrive at Stamford Bridge in this window, it could spell the end of Olivier Giroud's switch to Inter Milan.

The 33-year-old has fallen down the pecking order since Lamp took the reins.

He has been in talks with the Italians who want him to sign this week.

Tammy Abraham has picked up an injury which further complicates the situation.

He has not broken his ankle but faces a few weeks on the sidelines.

For that reason, Lampard wants to make a signing who can go straight into the team.

He is looking at Polish hitman Krzysztof Piatek but AC Milan are holding out for a hefty £30m.

There is also the option of Michy Batshuayi but Lamp has not given him a Premier League start this season. He now may be forced to play the Belgium forward.

Offers line up for Toon

NEWCASTLE owner Mike Ashley is considering multiple offers for the club.

The Toon was the subject of strong takeover talk all summer but a deal failed to happen.

That could be about to change with a Saudi-led consortium interested.

And the group who almost bought the club in the summer are also back in the frame.

There is no comment from St James's Park but credible reports suggest that Ashley would be open to the sale and it could happen in the coming weeks.

The club has been officially up for sale since October 2017. There have been several groups registering an interest in a deal that could be worth £350m.

ROOT BACKS SWEARY STU

SKIPPER Joe Root is standing behind Stuart Broad after the seamer was fined for swearing at Faf Du Plessis.

The bowler was sanctioned during England's win in Joburg clinched a 3-1 series victory over South Africa.

Broad was cited by the umpires after he clashes with De Plessis.

The Proteas skipper brushed shoulders with England keeper Jos Buttler before the bowler got involved.

Broad was Broad was penalised under article 2.3 of the ICC's code of conduct, relating to "use of an audible obscenity during an international match".

He picks up one demerit point along with a fine of 15% of his match fee – thought to be around £2,000.

Buttler and Vernon Philander were also fined and given a demerit point for their antics earlier in the series.

Du Plessis is trying to play the incident down. He said: "It was just myself and Broady having a go at each other.

"There was just some words from Broady and then a retaliation. I didn't even see Buttler was there. There was nothing malicious. He was trying to diffuse the situation."

Root claims there is no issue with discipline in the England team.

He thinks the "banter" is just part and parcel of playing international cricket, especially in South Africa.

The captain said: "There are times in the series where things might slightly boil over and guys get it wrong but I don't think we've got a bad group of guys at all.

"We've got a huge amount of respect for the opposition and for people in the ground. Guys can get it wrong and unfortunately we've seen that a little bit in this series, but if you speak to any one of the guys they'll always give you time, they'll respect the people in the stadium and sign autographs.

"There's definitely no bad blood between the sides in my opinion."
